The Intelligencer is delivered by carrier in the city.

Look at the printed label on your paper. The date thereon shows when the subscription expires. Notice date and label carefully, and if not correct please notify us at once.

Subscribers desiring the address of their paper changed, will please state in their communication both the old and new addresses.

To insure prompt delivery, complaints of non-delivery in the city of Anderson should be made to the Circulation Department before 9 a. m. and a copy will be sent at once.

All checks and drafts should be drawn to The Anderson Intelligencer.

ADVERTISING

Rates will be furnished on application. No if advertising discontinued except on written order.

The Intelligencer will publish brief and rational letters on subjects of general interest when they are accompanied by the names and addresses of the authors and are not of a defamatory nature. Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Rejected manuscripts will not be returned.

In order to avoid delays on account of personal absence, letters to The Intelligencer intended for publication should not be addressed to any individual connected with the paper, but simply to The Intelligencer.

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1916.

There's many a slip in "doin' the dip."

The city gardener is again patting himself on the back.

And the "sweet girl" graduate again comes into her own.

The League to Enforce Peace has even got the president on the run.

A man named Payne lives in Alken and has never been sick. Shucks, a name doesn't count for anything.

In an appeal to the farmer a patent medicine reads: "Well, in Three Days." That's digging some.

In Spartanburg they sing "Coming through the rye," to the tune of "we won't go home 'til mornin'."

The man who starts a quilt movement in Europe has the best chance to climb the presidential ladder over here.

Mexico's domestic situation might be likened to the home life of the man who thought two could live cheap as one.

Our idea of the man born with a silver spoon in his mouth is the guy that gets a month's vacation in the summer with full pay.

The Charlotte Observer makes the bald statement that "when you see it in The Observer it is so." Hearst gets by with it without any such affidavit.

The Due West railroad, we learn, has supplemented its passenger service with an automobile. It must make the engineer more to take dust from a "road lizard."

Procrastination is the thief of time, said the judge when court was slow in assembling. But when the man came before him for stealing a watch he got 90 days just the same.

Good roads and automobiles are so common in Anderson county that it makes little difference whether a farmer lives 10 or 20 miles from the county seat. There is less delay in getting to Anderson from the country and back home than there is in waiting on a street car in the suburbs of Greenville.

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

In another column of this issue there appears the report of the Librarian of the Carnegie library, which is very interesting since it gives the number of books which have been read from the library during the past twelve months.

The report is a very gratifying one but not as much as it should be. The people of Anderson do not realize the opportunities and advantages offered by the library as much as they should and do not spend as much time within its walls as they might.

One hour per day spent in a library like the one Anderson is fortunate enough to have is just the same as spending one hour per day in the class room of some college. If the right books are read. The library is well equipped with books and much valuable information may be obtained from them if one would only spend a short time there each day.

FUEL FOR WARSHIPS

If we are going to build warships, it goes without saying that we must provide fuel for them. If we are to have battle cruisers and scout cruisers capable of sailing circles around anything else afloat, we must have a plentiful supply of oil to feed them. The naval experts say that oil-burning engines are indispensable for such craft; with coal they cannot make anywhere near the speed expected of them, or have the same cruising radius.

The government has a plentiful oil supply "in underground storage," but if the bill favorably reported recently by the senate public lands committee should become a law a large amount of that oil will pass into private hands. The bill is intended to legalize certain entries on mineral lands that were withdrawn from entry by President Taft in 1909. These lands are situated in California and Wyoming, but the navy department estimates that they would last the navy only fifteen years in time of peace or five years in time of war. Some of the men interested in opening the oil lands to private exploitation insist that these estimates are wrong—that there will be enough oil left to run the navy for several decades, even on a war basis. But as long as there is any doubt about it, congress had better safeguard the public interest and take no chances. The oil lands, once alienated, cannot be restored for public use. And if the big navy of the future has to buy its oil from private corporations at commercial rates, it will immensely increase the nation's naval bills.

THE DOCTOR BY THE YEAR

That the physician of the future will work under a contract system was predicted by a speaker at the recent convention of the Ohio State Medical Association. He explained what he thought was an ideal system. Each individual would pay a yearly tax for "sickness insurance," and the doctors would be remunerated by the state. A stage preceding this will probably be the hiring of physicians by individuals and families on yearly contracts. The physician will be paid so much a month or year to keep the patient well. No diminution will be allowed during health, no increase during sickness.

It's not very unlike the Chinese system by which the physician is paid during the pangs of the patient, but his fees are stopped upon the approach of illness. This would put a stop to the abuses of the fee system. The doctor wouldn't starve if his people were well, nor would he keep on coming unnecessarily nor would unnecessary operations be advised.

This plan is growing in favor among medical men. Dr. Otto V. Huffman advised it before a convention in Chicago this winter, and a bill for compulsory health insurance is to be introduced into the Ohio legislature next winter.

LINE O' DOPE

Mr. J. Olin Sanders, deputy sheriff, was trying to find out where to address a letter to a person living near the end of South Main street a few days ago. One of the visitors in the office, knowing where the man lived but not knowing the residence number, said: "Just address it to the 'far end of South Main, and he will get it straight."

Mr. C. C. Dargan stated yesterday that the Anderson Mercantile Service was coming along nicely but that he had decided to enter into the business alone for the present, since Mr. H. C. Edge had decided not to become associated in the undertaking.

The many friends of Mr. McDavid Horton, city editor of the Columbia State, will regret to learn that he is ill in a hospital in Columbia. Mr. Horton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Horton of this city and well known here.

Dr. W. C. Kirkland, editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, will preach at St. Paul's church in Orangeburg next Sunday morning and on Monday morning will deliver the address to the graduating class at Columbia college.

Within the next few days the college students of Anderson will begin to return home and the arrival of all is awaited with pleasure. There are so many of Anderson's young people attending college elsewhere that they are badly missed and June is always looked forward to with interest.

It is nearly time for someone to be planning a big celebration for the fourth of July. Anderson has been negligent in this matter for the past three or four years.

STATE NEWS

A Monster Turtle.
Greenville, May 25.—A monster turtle weighing 300 pounds is being displayed in the window of Carpenter Brothers drug store on Main street. All day a large crowd viewed the unusual sight. The turtle was caught in a seine at Norfolk, and put in a refrigerator car of fish. The turtle arrived here Sunday. The monster it was said is able to carry a child on its back; but from the formidable size of its mouth, it would no doubt be a dangerous experiment and Greenville "kiddies" were loath to accept an invitation for a ride.

Modern Road Machinery.
Spartanburg, May 25.—The first shipment of modern road machinery, consisting of five tractor engines, purchased by the county for the use in Woodruff, Glenn Springs, Cherokee, Campobello and Reidville townships, were received in the city yesterday by the Spartan Hardware company. These tractors will be immediately delivered to the commissioners representing these townships. The prices of the tractors range from $550 to $1,200.

Clemson Dance.
Columbia, S. C., May 25.—Cards reading as follows have been received by a number of the young dancing set of the city:
The Thalian club of Clemson Agricultural and Mechanical college request the honor of your presence at their commencement hop, Friday evening, June 2nd, 1916, at 8:30 o'clock, Agricultural hall.

A New Industry.
Orangeburg, May 25.—The packing house committee continues to make its visits in the interests of this highly important organization. Wednesday a local delegation went to St. George and spent the day there extolling the benefits to be derived from the establishment of this plant. The party made the trip on the Southern railroad instead of in automobiles through the country. Blackville was visited today, and several cars left at eight o'clock to make the trip. The trips are winding up, and at present the schedule will be completed Saturday. St. Matthews and Cameron will be visited Friday, and Norway and Cape will be visited Saturday.

Local committees in the various towns have been at work, and the canvass for stock will proceed until the one hundred thousand dollars set out for has been definitely raised. A very promising sign has been the continual increase of stock by earlier subscribers and some of them have increased their stock subscription considerably.

$15,000 For Waterworks.
Bamberg, May 25.—It is stated that in about thirty days the decks will be cleared for work to begin on Bamberg's new waterworks system, made possible by the citizens voting in a bond issue of $15,000 for this purpose. The putting out of a bond issue requires a good deal of technical "red tape," and there is no way of hurrying it along much, but it is announced that everything will be in shape to begin within the next month or so. When the work is started, it will be pushed to a rapid completion.

Will Teach Bible.
Hones Path, May 25.—The trustees of Anderson college have invited Rev. Edward S. Reeves to teach the Bible in the college next year. Mr. Reeves is asked to teach the freshman and sophomore classes and the work will require one trip a week to Anderson during the fall session and two trips a week during the spring session. The matter was submitted to the deacons and church here and hearty consent was given for the pastor to assume these new duties in the college.

Everybody Can Afford Good Clothes

MAYBE you think that's a broad statement. But here's proof.

In the first place, good clothes need not be expensive. Good means stylish, comfortable and serviceable, with enough variety to be distinctive.

And every line in our store is thoroughly good. Evans Fifteens for example. You can't buy better suits by paying several dollars more. Anybody who has worn an Evans Fifteen will agree on that. They're the best ever at $15. And every suit in our house whether $10 or $25 has proportionate value.

Don't confuse medium prices with medium quality. Good merchandise at fair prices is the result of careful buying.

Come in and make our spring clothes and furnishings sell themselves.
